

The airing by Sinclair of an anti-Kerry documentary under the guise of news this close to an election reeks of partisanship. You know what I'm talking about. It may have been news 30 years ago. To claim it's news now is ridiculous at best. Some of the public may indeed be interested in this sort of partisan rhetoric. The public enjoys all kinds of stuff. That doesn't make it legal or right. You need to enforce the laws designed to protect against this sort of thing. You need to put a stop to this partisan airing, or force Sinclair to give the opposing team equal time. To do less leaves us uninformed and unable to make wise decisions. And it could be argued that this is indeed Sinclair's goal and if you do nothing they will succeed and we all lose.
